GROUP HOME SPECIAL POPULATION-YOUTH WHO EXHIBIT SEXUAL BEHAVIOR PROBLEMS

A specialized group home program is for adolescent males who have sexually abused and require a structured treatment milieu. This program is designed as an alternative to residential treatment and/or to meet the needs of youth who are discharged from residential treatment programs. The program utilizes a full time clinician and program director, special treatment approaches for youth with sexual behavior problems, and intensively supervised daily programs both in the home, school, and community setting. Clients in this program may remain for a year or longer until they are ready to move to a less restrictive setting appropriate to treatment and developmental needs. The staffing shift ratios are 3,4,2: eight (8) residents which includes overnight awake staff.

SUPERVISED LIVING SERVICES

Supervised apartment programs help to transition adolescents ages 16 and older to independent living. In-house supervision is provided twenty-four (24) hours per day with sleep-in staff. Youth are routinely allowed unsupervised time in the community to attend school, jobs, and for recreational and social activities.

Supervised apartment programs provide services of a master's level clinician for clinical oversight, service planning and emergency interventions. These programs provide a standardized assessment and curriculum for life skills instruction.

SPECIALIZED AND TREATMENT FOSTER CARE

Specialized foster care provides professional support services to children, youth and foster parents. Individualized treatment is provided within a supportive and structured home environment. These programs help to foster positive relationship skills, amelioration of emotional conflicts of attachment and development, and prepare youth for transition to home, independent living or other age and developmentally appropriate settings. Treatment foster care provides more intense professional support services. Some of these homes may provide emergency placement for children.

CHILD PLACING AGENCY SUPPORT PROGRAM FOR KINSHIP FOSTER CARE HOMES

The Department has identified and trained many DCYF/generic foster care providers who are willing to take in children at all hours of the day and night, on an emergency basis, regardless of the amount of information that is provided on the child at the time of placement. These foster care providers have agreed to replicate the level of support that the private agencies provide to their own programs.

FAMILY VISITATION SERVICES

Family Visitation Services work to prepare families for reunification and permanency by assisting parents to safely visit their children in a homelike environment. Visitation services will provide parenting assistance, supervision, transportation and other identified resources.

Families will have multiple system involvement and have had children removed due to abuse, neglect, delinquency, or challenging behaviors often resulting in significant trauma histories. Services can include families with youth who are detained at the Rhode Island Training School or in residential care. Families will be provided services based on an individualized family assessment which is based on a family developmental perspective which is trauma informed and evidence based.

Family Visitation services are provided in the home, community, schools or other settings in which the family requires assistance. It is preferable to provide services in the family's natural environment to allow the family to learn to practice skills in the natural settings. However, if safety concerns or other restrictions are present, the program will provide supervised, safe and confidential meeting settings for visits outside of the home. Transportation will be provided for family members as needed.

MULTI-SYSTEMIC THERAPY (MST) (STATEWIDE)

MST is a national evidence-based model. Master's degreed clinicians use proven clinical home-based interventions to promote behavior change in the youth's natural environment. Service goals are aimed at successful completion within a 3-5 month timeframe without need for formal supports post discharge. An extensive quality assurance program ensures high adherence to the national model that provides long term outcomes.

MST addresses multiple aspects of serious anti-social behavior where the youth lives, works and plays. In effort to promote maximum effectiveness of this service, the MST therapist is required to be the "lead" service involved with the family.

JUVENILE JUSTICE SERVICES

YOUTH TRANSITION CENTERS

“Youth Transition Center” (YTC) involves a unique collaboration between Tides Family Services, Inc. and Juvenile Probation/Parole. Additionally, community providers are invited to participate within the YTC, enhancing the ability to provide comprehensive rehabilitative services. A major goal of this project is to maintain an emphasis on strengthening families within the community by integrating the outreach and tracking services of the Youth New Futures Program. The target population for the project are high-risk youth on Probation that are at risk for probation violation, continuing offending behaviors, sentence/return to the RITS, being released from the RITS and/or engaging in unsafe behavior for themselves and/or their communities.

WAYWARD DISOBEDIENT/ARTICLE 23

Programs work with Police Departments to ensure that the provisions of policy 900.0070 are followed. Agencies shall accept referrals from parents of children who have requested the filing of a wayward by virtue of disobedient behavior petition with their local police department. Upon receipt of the referral on a standardized form (DCYF 197) the agency shall schedule an intake appointment within one week.

Based on the outcome of services the agency shall either close the case at the conclusion of services or return the DCYF form 197 to the parents noting their recommendations for court action or for future service delivery. If the family has engaged in recent service delivery, the agency shall use the previous treatment history in accordance with DCYF policy.
